

The White House Office of Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships
Cordially Invites You:

“Connecting Communities for the Common Good”

Conversations and Partnership Opportunities with the Obama Administration’s Faith-Based and Neighborhood Partnerships Office

Tuesday, August 16th

3:30-5:30 pm

Northeast Iowa Community College – Town Clock Center

680 Main Street, Dubuque, Iowa

Registration begins at 3:00 pm

Faith and community leaders from Iowa and across the Midwest are invited to join with the White House Office for Faith-Based and Neighborhood Partnerships, other government officials, diverse nonprofit and faith leaders and peers, for a series of innovative panel discussions, networking opportunities, and conversations with President Obama’s Faith-based Offices across the federal government.

- Explore partnership opportunities across the federal government relevant to your congregation or community
- Engage with your peers, faith-based and nonprofit leaders and key Administration representatives
- Empower your communities with information about initiatives and resources

Less than one week to register! If you would like to attend the White House Connecting Communities Roundtable, please register here by emailing your full name, organization or affiliation, and email address to: partnerships@hhs.gov by Friday, August 12th. Please use subject line: DUBUQUE RSVP. Space is limited, so register early! This invitation is non-transferable. Please do not forward.

We will also provide the newly released Partnerships for the Common Good toolkit! This new Partnership toolkit for faith-based and neighborhood organizations will be available for all participants.
